THE GOOD LUCK MAN IN HARD LUCK

Confidence Man Arrested for Duping Old Soldier and Ignorant Women.

Cornelius Martin, of Philadelphia, seems to be well adapted in the art of confidence man. He was arrested on Wednesday by Sergeant Ganley, of the Cheltenham police force, on a warrant sworn out by Jacob Scholl, an old colored Grand Army veteran, of Ogontz.

At the hearing before Justice Comly it was learned that Martin went to Scholl and told him that he was sent by the United States Postal authorities, and that by a payment of $10 in cash he would be able to secure Scholl an increase in pension from $10 to $15 per month. He displayed a number of bogus papers to be signed.

Chief Lindley, of the Cheltenham police, notified the United States Pension department, who sent an inspector, and Martin was taken into custody by the United States authorities. While at the Ogontz lock-up two women identified Martin as securing money from them, one for $2.00 for casting a spell of good luck over her, she was to burn all her clothes that were over a year old and take the ashes and dust over herself, in this way she would have perpetual good luck.

Another woman paid $4.00 to have her son taken from a reformatory school by casting a spell over the proper authorities. He seems to have a bad record and is wanted for a number of offences in Philadelphia.

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT AT EDGE HILL.

An automobilist going west on Mt. Carmel avenue turned sharply onto the Lincoln pike at Edge Hill, striking the rear of the truck owned by Coco Antonio, a wealthy Italian, of Glenside. At the back wheels of the wagon were broken and Mr. Antonio was thrown out, but only slightly injured.

A warrant for the driver of the car, who resides in Germantown, was returned before Justice Comly and a hearing is to be held. The number of the car was taken, in this way the owner's name was found.

Falling from a pole at Souderton, George Thompson, a telephone lineman, broke his right arm and dislocated his elbow on the flagstone pavement.

A new rural mail delivery route has started from Bristol, to be known as R. F. D. No. 2. This route will do away with the Bensalem post office.

FITZWATERTOWN

The old school house has reopened to a larger attendance than ever.

The Cannon Bros. are very busy at their stone crusher and lime kilns. The apple yield is enormous. Many bushels of this luscious fruit lie decaying on the ground.

Mr. Grace Martin and children returned to their home in Newark, N. J., after a prolonged and delightful visit among friends here.

Oyster suppers are already being planned and provisions made for a grand old Halloween—the season for witches and wills-with-wisps to play their pranks.

An old weather vane here predicts an early frost. It generally arrives on a quiet, sleepy night, blighting tender plants, but making good chestnuts, pumpkins, pawpaws, persimmons, etc.

Two artists in an auto passed through here en route to Philadelphia. They seemed to be marking favorite spots for photographs or painting appropriate fall scenes. Pennsylvania is proud of the great variety and beauty of her scenery, which is unsurpassed.

The recent heavy rains did slight damage and gave a little uneasiness, as many limbs and trees were blown down, affording free wood to the needy. Some of the destructive pests and vermin were washed out of existence. It is hoped the dust has been settled till the next rain.

RUSHLAND

Hattboro Home Happenings

HATBORO LOSES TWO TRAINS.

The Reading Railway has notified Station Agent Crouthamel that the early morning train, which leaves Hattboro at 5:43 and Hattboro at 5:50 will be continued until the change in the time table, which usually takes place in November. This is the train that the Reading has notified the Hattboro Business Men and other associations would be discontinued on September 16th. The continuing of the train is gratifying.

The hard-fork part of the notice is the discontinuing of two trains after today. One leaving the Reading Terminal at 6:13 p. m., and the other leaving Hattboro at 8:48 p. m. These trains were new this summer and were greatly appreciated by every one living between Hattboro and Glenfield. The discontinuing of the trains makes it impossible to leave the Terminal between 5:13 and 6:43 and makes those who cannot catch the train very late in getting to their homes.

Borough council held its monthly session on Monday evening.

Hon. I. P. Wanger, of Norristown, was in the borough on Thursday.

Rev. George Worrell of Lancaster, was a visitor in the borough on Thursday.

In the Methodist Episcopal church, next Sunday, Rev. J. Purman Shook, both services. Morning at 10:45. "Joy of Godliness," evening at 7:45, "Visions." Everybody welcome.

The Social Union of the Baptist church will be entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Neely on Friday evening, September 15. All members and friends invited.

Rev. F. C. Colby will preach on Sunday in the Baptist church, 11 a. m. "The Care of a Soul," 8 p. m. "Outline of the Series of sermons, on 'Hindrances to a Greater Life.'"

Charles DeMaas has been making some repairs during the past week on the overflow on the race leading to the mill property. Prof. Borden, the owner has had the mow land nicely cleaned up, after the heavy flood of last week.

Architect Wesley Mullin, of Maple Glen, has awarded a contract to Eli K. Krewson for the erection of a stone and frame pebble dashed residence on Rybner's avenue, in this borough for Mrs. A. S. Logan. The house will be of good size and have all modern conveniences.

Furman Betts gave a clam bake to a number of his friends on Tuesday.

The affair was held at the home of his grandchild, Mrs. Charles Boyce of County Line. The boys had a roaring fire in which the clams were baked over a coal fire.

Three games of ball were played.

The Dager-Robinson Automobile Company brought to their garage this week a 1912 Flanders touring car. This car is attracting attention, as it is up-to-date in appearance and has all the features of high priced cars. Any one thinking of buying an automobile would do well to see this handsome car.

The Hattboro branch of the W. C. T. U. will have an opening meeting for season on Wednesday afternoon, September 13th, 1911, at 8:45 o'clock at the Sunday school room of the Methodist church, Hattboro, Pa. Dr. J. B. Carroll will address the meeting. Everyone cordially invited to attend and join the interests of home and state.

The 20th of September is the date of the annual entertainment at Lohr hall for the benefit of Union Library. Miss Jeannette Brodhead will give her imitable readings in child dialect. The object of these entertainments is to make library attractive and up-to-date without using any of the income intended for buying new books. Modern heating apparatus, electric lights, rugs and chairs are some of the conveniences which have been the result of these annual entertainments. Posters and programs will appear later.

LOCKJAW DEFIES ANTITOXIN

Bristol Boy Dies in Agony After Crushing His Hand.

Fred McCoy, 15-year-old son of Mrs. Mary Zilly, of Otter street, Bristol, died on Monday, a sufferer from tetanus. The boy's right hand was badly crushed while he was feeding a job press in a local printing office, and although he was immediately placed under the care of a physician and his hand dressed every day, his jaws began to stiffen a week after his injury.

Two physicians were in attendance and they administered three doses of tetanus anti-toxin in 1500-unit quantities.

Falling from a trolley car, Mrs. John Brody, of Bristol, is hurt internally and her face is paralyzed.

THE YERKES SHOOTING

Hearing of Italian Has Been Postponed Until September 14.

The hearing of Orlando Pauletti, the Italian who has been in Norristown prison for the past two months on the charge of being one of the men who shot and robbed William H. Yerkes, on Monday, May 22, did not take place Monday morning before Magistrate Lendhart at Norristown. It was decided to have the hearing on Thursday morning, September 14th. Mr. Yerkes was shot and robbed while on his way to pay the employees in the quarries near Henderson station.

Overfilling an oil stove, Emma Moon, of Fallsington, was badly burned in attempting to cook supper. When she attempted to carry the stove out, her hair took fire, and only the timely arrival of Dr. J. N. Richards saved the woman and the house from burning.

WILLOW GROVE NEWS.

AT GAY WILLOW GROVE.

It is up at the Grove of the Willows That the people assemble for fun; Fire they seek for repose on their pillows.

When the day and its labors are done, They arrive on the trains and the trolleys;

In wagons and automobiles; Recreation to take from follies.

In the way that to each one appeals, The fine bands or the orchestras playing;

Serve to gladden the good-natured throngs; As they through the amusements go straying.

With their spirits attuned to the songs, Or enraptured, the beautiful fountain

As a spell binder holds them in; Then they go for a ride on the mountain;

Or a billowy Chase thru the Clouds. In the alarhops the people go sailing;

And the kids on the Merry-go-rounds Find enjoyment and pleasure unending.

In the ride, as the glad music sounds, As they glide through the beautiful city.

Charming Venice that art has placed here— Merry groups singing many a ditty, Are propelled by the gay gondolier.

Then a rush for the fast moving pictures; And the Coal Mine and Candyland, too;

And at times there are cute caustic strikes; From the few who are scolding and blue.

Some get lost in the wierd Mirror Maze; Or depart on a Tour of the World;

Or the Automobile Race that dazes, As around curving tracks one is whirled.

For a ride on the lake's waters rippling, With his lady goes many a swain;

And he tells her his love a la Kipling; While the band plays a lively refrain.

Then they dine at the splendid Casino; Or they lunch at the Lakeside Cafe;

And Fitz-Hugh and his darling Katrina, Would not barter their wealth for Cathay.

So if hard luck should make melancholy, And you'd like for a season to rove,

Don't you best, take a train or a trolley, And go over to gay Willow Grove.

It will quickly relieve, not distress you, And your spirits will soar like a hawk;

And its charming attractions will bless you, When you get to the world famous

SETH T. WALTON, Willow Grove.

W. C. T. U.

The September meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held at the home of Mrs. Henry Soliday, on the Hathoro pike, on Tuesday afternoon, and proved a very interesting and well-attended session.

After the transaction of routine business, the yearly reports of the different superintendents were heard. These proved "eye-opening" to those who are not fully conversant with the work done by this organization. Mrs. G. S. Fulmer, superintendent of the mother's department, Mrs. M. J. Alman, Jr., of the Temperance Light Bearers; Mrs. Henry Soliday, of the White Ribbon department; Miss Mabel Dennison, of the Loyal Temperance Legion; Mrs. J. Dyre Moyer, of the department of Press-work; and Mrs. Arnold Phillips, of the Flower Mission department all rendered splendid reports. The last mentioned department probably made the best showing, in the large amount of work done for the sick and needy.

Mrs. S. W. Thorn, of Noble, was appointed superintendent of Sabbath school work for the coming year. The election of officers resulted in the choice of the following:—President, Mrs. Annie Baum; vice president, Mrs. James Williams, Mrs. Arnold Phillips, Mrs. Isaac Rhoads, Mrs. George Quigley, Mrs. Henry Soliday and Mrs. Joseph Tull; recording secretary, Mrs. A. S. Heath. In the place of Miss Mabel Dennison, resigned, corresponding secretary and treasurer, Mrs. J. Dyre Moyer; organist, Mrs. William Crampton. Delegates were appointed to the fall convention of the Montgomery County W. C. T. U., to be held in Norristown, September 28th, as follows: Mrs. Joseph Tull, Miss Elizabeth Rapp, Mrs. Stephen Smith, Mrs. A. S. Heath, Alternates: Mrs. Robert Tyson, Mrs. Cook, Mrs. Soliday and Mrs. Thorn. Before adjourning, the ladies partook of delicious refreshments served by the hostesses.

HORSHAM FARMERS' CLUB.

W. W. Frazier will entertain the Horsham Farmers' Club at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Gheen, Willow Grove, Pa., on Saturday, September 9th at 5 p. m.

The questions to be discussed at the Horsham Farmers' Club to be held at the home of Phineas P. Gheen on Saturday evening, the ninth, are as follows:—

"Would farmers get better results if their tomato vines were properly pruned? If so when and how should the pruning be done?"—C. S. Kinsey.

"How can we know when we are on the ascending path of life?"—Elizabeth R. Wood.

"Give some of the most common errors of life, made by people who seem to be out of harmony with their life work."—Elizabeth R. Wood.

"Does the clover plant secure the nitrogen from the air, when it is full of leaves, as just before hay harvest, or when pasture is short?"—William J. Hallowell.

"How far should the farmer insist on table etiquette?"—Tacie Paxson.

"What would you advise sowing in the fall as a cover crop for the garden?"—Newton E. Wood.

On Monday while one of R. B. Wener's men was driving a valuable horse geared to a cart on Church road, the horse started to run, the bit and bridle broke and the horse fell and broke his leg and had to be killed.

Make an unbiased reasoning before making up your mind for whom to vote. Do not accept promises, study well how you are going to better yourself, and if your choice will better conditions, give credit for what has been done, ask yourself if you will be the gainer. It is a business proposition.

E. J. Richardson spent Wednesday in Trenton, and was the first to prevent what might have been a serious fire. A man was supplying gasoline to one of his customers, through a hose when a mischievous boy set it on fire. Fortunately a man dumped a wheelbarrow full of earth on it, extinguishing it.

On account of the inclement weather at their last lawn fete, the fire company (by permission of the weather man) will hold a fete on the grounds connected with the Hammerstein building on this Saturday evening, when they hope to fulfill all the pledges made for the entertainment of the public. It is hoped that it will be well patronized.

The school house has been thoroughly renovated no doubt through the efforts of a committee pointing out much needed improvements, while we are thankful for what we have received we still hope that our school will rank as an institution in which we may look at with pride and which should not lack in up-to-date methods.

Not merely four walls and a roof, but the surroundings should harmonize with the intellectual, physical exercises should be provided for during recess, in enclosed grounds, such as fire drills, out door lectures, tests on oratory, and a score of methods which could be devised.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS.

TIMELY TOPICS OF PLANTS AND PESTS DISCUSSED WEEKLY
 by H. A. Surface, State Zoologist of Pa.

THE LEOPARD MOTH.

An insect but recently introduced into Pennsylvania is known as the Leopard moth, because of the spotted color on its large wings. As a larva or grub it bores in the trunks and branches of trees. A fruit grower in Carbon county recently sent samples of infested apple branches to State Zoologist Surface, stating that these larvae had bored holes in them one foot and one-half long, and three-fourths inches in diameter, and that they were becoming very destructive in his orchard, as several branches had been broken or excavated.

As this is a pest not commonly known in Eastern United States, but liable to become destructive anywhere through this region, the reply of Dr. Surface may prove of interest and value to others. It is as follows: "The larvae which you sent boring in the limbs of your Siberian crab apple tree are the Leopard moth larvae. It is a comparatively new imported pest. It has, as you see, very great possibilities and danger. I myself have not been had opportunity to see it in the apple limbs. You were decidedly right in suspecting that they were a new variety of insect to your region, and I am much interested in your statement that several branches have been broken by being so hollowed out."

I will thank you if you will send us a number of the infested branches, together with the insect larvae or worms in them, so that we can keep them in them, and rear them to maturity. We wish to get some of the adult or winged specimens of this pest, and the best way to do this is to keep the larvae alive in our cages until next spring, when they would transform into large spotted moths. It is from the spots on the wings that they take the name of Leopard moth.

I am satisfied that the best way of controlling borers of any kind, where they are in twigs, or parts of trees, shrubs or plants that can be cut off and destroyed, is to cut off the infested parts and burn them, so that it will destroy the pests and prevent their recurrence in greater numbers the next year. Unfortunately, it is impossible to reach them by easily applied poisons of any kind.

SHOULD GROUND BE DYNAMITED IN ORCHARD PLANTING?

A business man of Central Pennsylvania, who contemplates planting an orchard, wrote to State Zoologist Surface asking if it was best to use dynamite in preparing the places for planting.

The reply gives practical information on this subject which has been recently brought before the public.

"Whether or not it will be best to blast with dynamite, where you wish to plant your pear and peach trees, depends much upon the condition of the soil and the rock there. If there is loose friable rock and subsoil, and a good rich soil, it may not be very advantageous. If, however, it is a hard pan, and beneath this a shale that does not hold water well, it may be advisable to pulverize it with dynamite. This, I think, would be more desirable for the pear and apple than for any other fruits. I have my doubts if it would be necessary for the peach trees unless they are growing where the soil is very shallow and the rocks are quite near the surface. In this case, breaking up with dynamite would help to make a root bed that would hold moisture and furnish plant food."

There are conditions in which planting by blasting with dynamite are quite desirable. This does not mean that holes are blown out of the ground, but merely that the subsoil and rock beneath this are broken up in such a way that the roots are easily able to penetrate more readily to find water and plant food."

DESTROY FALLEN LEAVES WHEN INFESTED.

An Allentown correspondent sent samples of injured oak leaves to State Zoologist, H. A. Surface, of Harrisburg, Pa., and said that his trees are "shedding leaves from the bottom up." He asked if he should cut down the trees in order to prevent the spread of the pest.

The reply was as follows: "I find the oak leaves which you sent to us, injured by an insect known as a Leaf Miner. This is the larva of a very small moth. It is not directly injuring the trees, but the leaves only, and at this time of year as the leaves have mostly performed their function, it will not injure the tree as much as it would had it been earlier. It will not be necessary to cut down the trees. However, I would advise gathering and burning the leaves as fast as they fall. I think if this is continued under each infested tree for a year, or two, or three, there will be no further trouble coming from this pest."

It is always advisable where leaves are infested with insects, such as these, particularly those which remain in the leaves, for a greater or less time after falling, that they be gathered and burned soon after dropping.

Wilmer Atkinson, of Three Tuns, reports his chestnut orchard entirely ruined, and every tree will have to be dug out. The blight is working destruction among the chestnut trees in parts of Montgomery county.

THE RENEWAL A STRAIN.

Vacation is over. Again the school bell rings at morning and at noon, with less of thousands the happiest kind of work has begun. The renewal of which is a mental and physical strain to all except the most rugged. The little that a few days ago had been in their cheeks, and a little boy whose were then so red you would have mistaken them for "strawberries" have already lost something of the appearance. Now is a time when many children should be given a tonic, which may exert much restful trouble, and we know of no other so readily to be recommended as Booke's Sarsaparilla, which strengthens the nerves, perfects digestion and assimilation, and aids mental development by building up the whole system.

FARMERS TO HAVE OUTING.

Interesting Events Will be Held on General Morrell's Estate.

On the big field and race track adjoining General Edward Morrell's estate, Knight's and Red Lion roads, Torrensdale, the grangers and farmers of Philadelphia and the lower section of Bucks county will hold their second annual fair Saturday, September 23d.

This fair is unique in that there is no charge of admission and no fees are required for the entry of exhibits or for participation in any of the events that are to be held. All farmers are invited to exhibit the best of their products, horses and cattle, and prizes will be awarded to the best specimens. There will also be a series of trotting and running races, for which several magnificent silver cups have been obtained. General Morrell, who is taking a keen interest in the event, has contributed a number of cups.

The chinch bug, long the terror of the grain fields of the middle West, is the latest bug to get into Pennsylvania and fears are entertained by the State Department of Agriculture that it may become as destructive in the wheat and corn fields as the San Jose scale has been in the fruit orchards.

E. J. Jacoby, of New Britain, calls attention to Canada and Russian thistles in his neighborhood both of which are obnoxious weeds and always crowd out other plants and grasses. The Russian thistle Mr. Jacoby says is making considerable headway, and farmers should be on their guard and stamp it out if possible. This thistle is said to be more destructive than the Canada thistle which has long been a terror to farmers.

AUGUST, 1911, will long be remembered in this vicinity for several things. First of all it was distinguished by the most severe and costly hurricane in the memory of even the oldest residents. After that, but almost as remarkable, was the long sleet of rain, there having been nine days in succession at the end of the month when rain fell daily. Not much less notable was the severity of the thunder and lightning on one or two occasions and the unusually cold weather which marked the latter half of the month.
